Universal Health Coverage Background.

In 2015 New York, 193 Member States of the United Nations (UN) agreed on the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), among the 17 Sustainable Development Goals, they had set out an ambitious agenda for a safer, fairer and healthier world by 2030 in particular Sustainable Development Goal three (3) to improve health and wellbeing, demonstrating a new commitment to health, underpinned by target 3.8 for universal health coverage (UHC).

UHC is based on the principle that all individuals and communities should have access to quality essential health services without suffering financial hardship. UHC cuts across all health targets and contributes to health security and equity. The goals include a broad array of targets across different sectors. The target to achieve UHC is a beacon of hope for a healthier world.

Hence the birth of UHC2030, of which is the global movement to build stronger health systems for universal health coverage
